EXPERIENCE

Administrative Experience

2025 – Present

Admissions Lead, Department of Environmental and Occupational Health Sciences, UTHealth Houston, School of Public Health

Responsibilities

- Co-developing and implementing admissions strategies, including enrollment goals, recruitment plans, and policies and procedures for the admissions process.
- Managing the application process, such as overseeing the review and evaluation of applications and ensuring compliance with all admissions policies and deadlines.
- Providing information and guidance to prospective students, including answering questions, conducting tours, and assisting students with the application process.

Accomplishments

- Co-led the development of an evaluation and scoring rubric to more equitably assess potential students and reduce administrative burdens for faculty.
- Built a positive and welcoming environment for prospective students, such as being faculty mentor to the EOHS student group and creating opportunities for students to engage with faculty during orientation and throughout the academic year.

2023 – Present

Director of Total Worker Health®, CDC Southwest Center for Occupational and Environmental Health, UTHealth Houston, School of Public Health

Responsibilities

- Lead the first and only doctoral program in TWH
- Manage approximately 20 graduate students
- Oversee TWH trainees
- Supervise the TWH traineeship program, including scholarships, tuition, and stipends
- Lead the TWH Field Experience course

Accomplishments

- Increased student enrollment in the TWH program by over 30%, making it the largest PhD program in our department.
- Managed practicum experiences for TWH PhD students, including finding community locations and developing competencies.
- Educated students on the importance of communicating research results, resulting in an increase in publications, conference presentations, and community outreach.

2024 – Present

Director of Health Policy, CDC Violence and Injury Prevention Research (VIPR) Center, UTHealth Houston and Baylor College of Medicine

Responsibilities

- Manage research-to-policy initiatives, such as creating policy briefs and reports
- Oversee federal and state policymaker meetings
- Represent the Center in policy settings, such as Congressional Briefings
- Facilitate and support funded research on health policy for the Center

Accomplishments

- Organized a policy conference, in collaboration with Safe States, on the importance of violence and injury prevention
- Delivered jargon-free research evidence to policymakers, such as disseminating over 10 policy briefs to legislative offices based on VIPR faculty research portfolios
- Presented briefings to State of Texas staffers after the Central Texas floods
- Trained health care practitioners and researchers on how to use research evidence in policymaking, including ways to engage and build relationships with policymakers.

2020 – Present

Director of Health Policy Research, Center for Violence Prevention, UTHealth Houston, School of Behavioral Health Sciences

Responsibilities

- Manage research-to-policy and research-to-practice initiatives
- Oversee policymaker meetings on a regular basis, including federal and state
- Represent the Center in policy settings, such as Congressional Briefings
- Facilitate and support funded research on health policy for the Center

Accomplishments

- Delivered jargon-free research evidence to policymakers, such as over 15 policy briefs to legislative offices based on CVP's faculty portfolios
- Named Center for the State's Lethality Task Force
- Invited testimony to the Texas Legislature
- Presented briefings to the US Senate, Dept of Labor, and State of Texas staffers
- Trained health care practitioners and researchers on how to use research evidence in policymaking, including ways to engage and build relationships with policymakers.
- Brought in over $3 million in funding to the Center
- During and after major violent events (i.e., George Floyd murder and Santa Fe mass shooting), I was instrumental in our Center being a state, national, and global leader on health equity research and research funding, including conducting training and education and a trusted consultant on ethical clinical care.
 - As an example, I collaborated on the AAMC Center for Health Justice's "Principles of Trustworthiness" Toolkit, including a professionally produced film, reports, and published paper.
 - After a series of mass shootings across Texas, I developed a rapid response texting platform to communicate available resources in affected communities.

2022 – 2023

Vice Chair of Research and Health Policy, Family Medicine, UTMB

When I assumed this position, research was largely non-existent in the department. As a result, my primary focus was on cultivating a culture of research that was integrated within our educational and clinical mission. Tasks included:

Responsibilities

- Built internal and external partnerships with governmental agencies, nonprofits, healthcare providers, and researchers within and outside UTMB to advance primary care research.
- Developed community-based research initiatives that involved local populations in addressing an array of health issues, ensuring that research is grounded in real-world needs.
- Mentored faculty to publish in high-impact journals and ensure the research outcomes are disseminated to both academic and non-academic audiences.
- Strengthened efforts to translate research findings into practice by engaging policymakers, practitioners, and the general public through media, public talks, and policy briefs.
- Ensured that research is inclusive of diverse populations and addresses issues of equity and social justice in primary healthcare.
- Ensured that all research adhered to the highest ethical standards by conducting annual bioethics trainings and workshops.

Accomplishments

- Supervised the research portfolios for clinical faculty and resident physicians, as well as medical students and postdoctoral fellows, including publications and funding.
- Directed research programming and education for the department, including the creation of a monthly research workshop that connected funded faculty with faculty seeking advice and support for grant writing.
- In collaboration with the Chair, I led the re-design of our research and strategic plan, which outlined focus areas, vision, expectations, and resources to ensure faculty success.

- Represented the department at institutional research meetings to ensure primary care research was integrated into university goals.
- Improved faculty support systems:
 - Supported collaborative and interprofessional projects for faculty, residents, and students
 - Hired a grants manager to strengthen the quality of faculty research proposals
 - Increased leadership opportunities for faculty in multiple roles across the department, school, institution, and community

Other administrative/leadership positions

Board Member, American Public Health Association, 2020 – present

- Reviewed policies that aligned with APHA's mission and goals.
- Supported efforts at increasing APHA membership
- Represented the Community Health Planning and Policy Development section

Board Member, Society for the Advancement of Violence and Injury Research, 2023 – 2025

- Board representative, policy committee
- Chair, Awards Committee
- Participated in strategic planning, including updated by-law policies

Advisor to the Provost's Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Initiative, 2020 – 2021

- Co-led a university-wide training on DEI, including engaging faculty on their experiences with and suggestions for enhancing it within UTMB.
- Key outcomes included:
 - Presence of interpersonal (albeit unintentional) and institutional racism and sexism.
 - Need for additional training around micro-aggressions.
 - Need for improved institutional commitment and mentorship opportunities for underrepresented minority faculty, staff, and students.

Research Experience

2023 –Present Associate Professor, School of Public Health, UTHealth Houston, TX

Teach courses on social determinants of health, health policy, qualitative research methods, and occupational and environmental health equity; lead multiple federally funded research projects focused on precarious employment and work as a social determinant of health, including over $5 million in federal, state, and foundation grants; serve on multiple university and academic boards and councils.

2022 –Present Adjunct Associate Professor, School of Public and Population Health, UTMB, Galveston, TX

Provide as-needed expertise or mentorship regarding social determinants of health, health policy, qualitative research methods, and occupational health equity.

Summer 2024 Visiting Scholar in Health Policy, Robert Graham Center, Washington, D.C.

The Robert Graham Center is part of the American Board of Family Medicine. As a visiting scholar, I worked directly with staff on an original research project focused on sick leave benefits for precarious workers. It resulted in a report on sick leave policies and a manuscript that is under development.

2022 – 2024 Adjunct Associate Professor, School of Nursing, UTMB, Galveston, TX

Provided as-needed expertise and mentorship regarding community-based clinical care, social determinants of health, health policy, & qualitative research methods.

2020 – 2023 Assistant Professor, School of Medicine, UTMB, Galveston, TX

Conducted research and lectured on social determinants of health, structural violence, health policy, qualitative research methods, and occupational health equity; led multiple federally funded research projects focused on precarious employment and work as a social determinant of health, including PI or Co-I for over $3 million in federal, state, and foundation grants.

- 2019 – 2020 Post-Doctoral Research Scholar, Edna Bennett Pierce Prevention Research Center, Washington, D.C.
Led an ethnographic evaluation of the dissemination and use of child maltreatment research in policymaking, studying how structured relationships between legislative staff and researchers' influence evidence use. Funded by the William T. Grant Foundation.
- 2015 – 2019 Community Health Research Fellow, Center to Eliminate Health Disparities & Office of Health Policy and Legislative Affairs, UTMB, Galveston, TX
Research and teaching included ethnographic and photovoice projects related to the social determinants of health and health inequities, with a particular focus on structural and symbolic violence for migrant workers and school-aged youth. Co-taught health and human rights courses to medical students; published multiple peer-reviewed journal articles and policy briefs; identified funding sources for project activities; and assisted in four successful grant proposals.
- 2013 – 2015 Graduate Assistant, Institute for the Medical Humanities, UTMB, Galveston, TX
One of the lead graduate assistants on the Hear Our Voice initiative, a community-based participatory research project that examined the multiple and interrelated dimensions of health inequities, poverty, and violence after a natural disaster. The project culminated with a report and documentary. Also served as a TA for 1) Humanities, Ethics, and Professionalism; 2) Beyond Medicine: Social Health and Human Rights, and 3) Joint Admission Medical Program.
